FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The respondent (CARES # ██████████) is a resident of Kenosha County who received FS benefits in Kenosha County from June 20, 2014 through March 31, 2015.
2. During the period of March, 2014 – August, 2014, the respondent received FS benefits for herself and her four children in the State of Tennessee.

3. On June 20, 2014, the respondent submitted a Wisconsin FS application. She reported that she lived on [REDACTED] in Kenosha. She answered “no” to the question of whether she was receiving FS benefits in any other state. She reported her four minor children in the household: [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].
4. On July 7, 2014, the respondent submitted an application for Wisconsin Caretaker benefits. She reported again that she lived on [REDACTED] in Kenosha. She answered “yes” to the questions of whether she was a resident of Wisconsin and whether she intends to reside in Wisconsin. She answered “no” to the question of whether she was receiving FS benefits in another state. She reported [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] in the household.
5. On October 26, 2014, the respondent submitted a Six Month Report Form (SMRF). She reported an address on [REDACTED] in Kenosha. She answered “yes” to the questions of whether she was a resident of Wisconsin and whether she intends to reside in Wisconsin. She reported [REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] in the household.
6. During the period of November 18, 2014 – March 23, 2015, the respondent’s Wisconsin FS card was used exclusively in Memphis, Tennessee.
7. On December 9, 2014, the agency received an alert of respondent receiving duplicate benefits in Tennessee. On February 16, 2015, the agency received an alert of respondent receiving duplicate benefits in Illinois.
8. On March 27, 2015, the respondent contacted the agency to report that her Wisconsin FS card was lost in February, 2015 and that her new card has a balance of zero. Respondent was informed at that time that her card had been de-activated due to benefits being used exclusively outside of Wisconsin. Respondent reported that her children had been living with a relative in Tennessee and attending school in Tennessee.
9. On February 18, 2016, the petitioner prepared an Administrative Disqualification Hearing Notice alleging that respondent provided false information to receive FS benefits.
10. The respondent failed to appear for the scheduled March 23, 2016 Intentional Program Violation (IPV) hearing and did not provide any good cause for said failure to appear.

DISCUSSION

An intentional program violation of the FoodShare program occurs when a recipient intentionally does the following:

1. makes a false or misleading statement, or misrepresents, conceals or withholds facts;
or
2. commits any act that constitutes a violation of the Food Stamp Act, the Food Stamp Program Regulations, or any Wisconsin statute for the purpose of using, presenting, transferring, acquiring, receiving, possessing or trafficking of FoodShare benefits or QUEST cards.

FoodShare Wisconsin Handbook, § 3.14.1; see also 7 C.F.R. § 273.16(c) and Wis. Stat. §§ 946.92(2).

An intentional program violation can be proven by a court order, a diversion agreement entered into with the local district attorney, a waiver of a right to a hearing, or an administrative disqualification hearing, FoodShare Wisconsin Handbook, § 3.14.1. The petitioner can disqualify only the individual found to have committed the intentional violation; it cannot disqualify the entire household. Those disqualified on grounds involving the improper transfer of FS benefits are ineligible to participate in the FoodShare program for one year for the first violation, two years for the second violation, and permanently for the third violation. Although other family members cannot be disqualified, their monthly allotments will be reduced unless they agree to make restitution within 30 days of the date that the FS program mails a written demand letter. 7 C.F.R. § 273.16(b).

7 C.F.R. §273.16(e)(4) provides that the hearing shall proceed if the respondent cannot be located or fails to appear without good cause. The respondent did not appear or claim a good cause reason for not attending the hearing. Therefore, I must determine whether the respondent committed an IPV based solely on the evidence that the petitioner presented at hearing.

In order for the petitioner to establish that an FS recipient has committed an IPV, it has the burden to prove two separate elements by clear and convincing evidence. The recipient must have: 1) committed; and 2) intended to commit a program violation per 7 C.F.R. § 273.16(e)(6). In Kuehn v. Kuehn, 11 Wis.2d 15 (1959), the court held that:

Defined in terms of quantity of proof, reasonable certitude or reasonable certainty in ordinary civil cases may be attained by or be based on a mere or fair preponderance of the evidence. Such certainty need not necessarily exclude the probability that the contrary conclusion may be true. In fraud cases it has been stated the preponderance of the evidence should be clear and satisfactory to indicate or sustain a greater degree of certitude. Such degree of certitude has also been defined as being produced by clear, satisfactory, and convincing evidence. Such evidence, however, need not eliminate a reasonable doubt that the alternative or opposite conclusion may be true. ...

Kuehn, 11 Wis.2d at 26.

Wisconsin Jury Instruction – Civil 205 is also instructive. It provides:

Clear, satisfactory and convincing evidence is evidence which when weighed against that opposed to it clearly has more convincing power. It is evidence which satisfies and convinces you that “yes” should be the answer because of its greater weight and clear convincing power. “Reasonable certainty” means that you are persuaded based upon a rational consideration of the evidence. Absolute certainty is not required, but a guess is not enough to meet the burden of proof. This burden of proof is known as the “middle burden.” The evidence required to meet this burden of proof must be more convincing than merely the greater weight of the credible evidence but may be less than beyond a reasonable doubt.

Further, the McCormick treatise states that “it has been persuasively suggested that [the clear and convincing evidence standard of proof] could be more simply and intelligibly translated to the jury if they were instructed that they must be persuaded that the truth of the contention is highly probable.” 2 McCormick on Evidence § 340 (John W. Strong gen. ed., 4th ed. 1992).

Thus, in order to find that an IPV was committed, the trier of fact must derive from the evidence a firm conviction as to the existence of each of the two elements even though there may be a reasonable doubt as to their existence.

In order to prove the second element, i.e., intention, there must be clear and convincing evidence that the FS recipient intended to commit the IPV. The question of intent is generally one to be determined by the trier of fact. State v. Lossman, 118 Wis.2d 526 (1984). There is a general rule that a person is presumed to know and intend the probable and natural consequences of his or her own voluntary words or acts. See, John F. Jelke Co. v. Beck, 208 Wis. 650 (1932); 31A C.J.S. Evidence §131. Intention is a subjective state of mind to be determined upon all the facts. Lecus v. American Mut. Ins. Co. of Boston, 81 Wis.2d 183 (1977). Thus, there must be clear and convincing evidence that the FS recipient knew that the act or omission was a violation of the FS Program but committed the violation anyway.

Based upon the record before me, I find that the petitioner has established by clear and convincing evidence that the respondent intentionally violated FS program rules, and that this violation was the first such violation committed by the respondent. The evidence clearly establishes that she received duplicate benefits from the State of Wisconsin and the State of Tennessee in July and August, 2014. The respondent had been receiving benefits from the State of Tennessee since at least March, 2014 so she was aware when she applied in Wisconsin that she was receiving benefits from another state. She reported on her Wisconsin application that she was not receiving benefits from another state. The evidence further establishes that the respondent was receiving Wisconsin FS benefits from November, 2014 – March, 2015 when she was clearly not a resident of Wisconsin. All of her Wisconsin FS benefits were spent in Tennessee. She reported in her applications that she and her four children were residents of Wisconsin during that time. She knew that her children were enrolled in school and living in Tennessee. She continued to collect benefits for herself and her children while not residing in Wisconsin. Based on the evidence provided, I conclude the respondent committed an intentional program violation when she reported she and her children were Wisconsin residents at a time when they were not residing in Wisconsin and when she reported that she was not receiving FS benefits in another state. Her actions were done with the intent to obtain FS benefits that she was not entitled to receive. Therefore, the petitioner correctly seeks to disqualify the respondent from the FS program for ten years.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The respondent violated, and intended to violate, the FS program rule specifying that applicants/recipients must provide truthful and accurate information.
2. The violation specified in Conclusion of Law No. 1 is the first such violation committed by the respondent.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is ORDERED

That the petitioner's determination is sustained, and that the petitioner may make a finding that the respondent committed a first IPV of the FoodShare program and disqualify the respondent from the program for ten years, effective the first month following the date of receipt of this decision.

REQUEST FOR A REHEARING ON GROUNDS OF GOOD CAUSE FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR

In instances where the good cause for failure to appear is based upon a showing of non-receipt of the hearing notice, the respondent has 30 days after the date of the written notice of the hearing decision to claim good cause for failure to appear. See 7 C.F.R. sec. 273.16(e)(4). Such a claim should be made in writing to the Division of Hearings and Appeals, P.O. Box 7875, Madison, WI 53707-7875.

APPEAL TO COURT

You may also appeal this decision to Circuit Court in the county where you live. Appeals must be filed with the Court and served either personally or by certified mail on the Secretary of the Department of Health Services, 1 West Wilson Street, Room 651, Madison, WI 53703, and on those identified in this decision as "PARTIES IN INTEREST" no more than 30 days after the date of this decision or 30 days after a denial of a timely rehearing request (if you request one).

The process for Circuit Court Appeals may be found at Wis. Stat. §§ 227.52 and 227.53. A copy of the statutes may be found online or at your local library or courthouse.
